Golden Ratio

A generator

599 CHF

In mathematics, the golden ratio is also known as the golden number, the Fibonacci series or Fibonacci frequency (1,618). Golden Ratio is a generator of subtle waves known as plasma, which is the fourth state of matter after solid, liquid and gas. Albeit invisible, plasma is everywhere around us.

Golden Ratio comprises eight coils placed over four levels. It is inspired by the Keshe technology, which is based on the Golden Number. The coils are powered by batteries formed by a mixture of copper, zinc and an M-State element electrolyte.

The coils on the four levels are aligned so as to emanate a wide spectrum of dynamising frequencies.

Use:

Position Golden Ratio with its openings (the lines connecting the coils) along the north-south axis. As a result, it will harmonise and dynamise your living or work space.

Golden Ratio generates a wide range of beneficial frequencies whose action may go as far as producing a light distortion or a flux around it. Its diffusing action is not limited to just a room as it will propagate to the surroundings over time and it will also balance all magnetic and gravitational elements. Golden Ratio does not require maintenance. Its batteries do not need replacing.

A creation by Frank Miller. Artisan product of Switzerland.

Forpost-1

Electromagnetic protection from screens

Forpost-1

Forpost-1 is a device that offers complete protection from the negative effects of the electromagnetic diffusion emitted by TVs, computer screens and other electronic devices.

Forpost-1 does not alter the electromagnetic emission of a given electromagnetic source, but rather its torsion factor.

The device neutralises the harmful effects of torsion coming from electromagnetic sources and creates a zone of biological safety around the source of the emission.

Forpost-1 also successfully neutralises the negative energy emitted by electronic devices found in cars, buses and trains. You can easily carry with you at all times.

Use

Place Forpost-1 in front of the screen or carry with you at all times.

Spinor

Electromagnetic
shield for phones

Spinor

Spinor offers complete, reliable protection from the harms of the electromagnetic diffusion coming from cellular and cordless phones, music players, laptops and other devices. By neutralising the electromagnetic torsion caused by electronic devices, which children and pregnant women are most vulnerable to, Spinor creates an area of biological safety around all electronic devices without affecting their regular functioning.

Use

Place Spinor on the back of your cellular or cordless phone. Apply it on the side of the device that is most convenient to you as the position of Spinor does not affect its effectiveness. For laptops, it is recommended to place two Spinor devices on the backplate in the position it most suits you (for instance, on the battery or nearby). Apply Spinor on a plain, clean, possibly smooth surface. Spinor does not affect the regular functioning of phones and other electronic devices. Two-year warranty.
